Nexia in Germany

The requirements of the middle market have changed tremendously in the last years. It is no longer about classic tax consulting and audit services. In today's world companies need comprehensive and specialised advice geared to their individual needs and requirements. This is where Nexia starts.

Reliable consulting for success

Our work is centred around the objectives and success of our clients. We are reliable and keep what we have promised. Our consulting is clear, to the point, transparent and independent. We highly value presenting complex matters in a simplified form so that our clients always have an overview. Those who decide for Nexia receive rapid-response and personalised services led by our partners.

Highly qualified teams for sustainable solutions

Our permanent teams comprise highly qualified experts, who combine a wide range of skills and attend to your concerns on an ongoing basis. Thus we are always a step ahead, remain alert and act sustainably.

With over 450 employees, including more than 120 public auditors, certified tax advisors and licensed lawyers working in eleven offices, we, as Nexia GmbH, are available to our clients throughout Germany.

Nexia International

We support our clients on their path to more growth worldwide. With more than 230 member firms in over 120 countries and revenues of approximately USD 2.9 billion, Nexia ranks among the top twelve global networks of independent accounting, tax advisory and consulting firms.

Success through personal relationships and professional knowledge

The network is not an anonymous association of consulting firms. The continued and sustainable success of Nexia is the result of what our core business is about: personal relationships, proven experience and excellent professional knowledge.

Since the members of the network have come to know each other well by attending jointly organised conferences and by exchanging technical knowledge with each other, they are able to handle the international matters of their clients by offering international expertise at the same time that they personally take care of their clients locally.

Cross-border business with tailored solutions

No matter where the companies of our clients are operating or would like to do business, we find tailored solutions for their cross-border business, even in complex environments. Through our Nexia network, we give support by expanding the options for taking action and by seeking cross-border solutions. Our specialists securely guide our clients through the maze of regional and international laws and regulations, while considering local cultures, particularities and traditions.

Sustainability

The business activities of a company always have ecological and social consequences. Since the EU Corporate Sustainability Reporting Directive (CSRD) became effective in 2024, companies have the duty to report precisely on such consequences and their effects on their business. Therefore sustainability is now a mandatory component of the management report and thus is subject to an external assurance review. The objective is to increase transparency and comparability and to promote sustainable investment decisions at the same time. While addressing such issues, companies have a great opportunity for realigning their corporate strategy to changing environmental conditions.

Nexia supports companies in developing their own sustainability strategy, in complying with the regulatory requirements on sustainability and in achieving their goals for sustainability. In addition, Nexia offers assurance services for sustainability reports.

Our services in this area are, among others:

- Preparing sustainability reports in accordance with EU requirements
- Assurance reviews of sustainability reports
- Consulting on sustainability strategies
- Setting up ESG tools

Transaction consulting

Transactions are an essential component of any company's strategy and assist in adapting to complex and dynamic competitive environments. Owing to their complexity, management does, however, face a challenge. Acquiring and selling a company is a multi-layered, multi-disciplinary procedure.

Our experts at Nexia can guide an entire transaction process in Germany and worldwide – from the planning stage up to a successful conclusion.

Our services, among others, focus on:

- Due Diligence
- Merger & Acquisitions
- Post-deal Services
- Financial Modelling

Valuation Services

Business practice often requires the valuation of a company, specific assets or liabilities owing to the requirements in various legal areas.

As advisors, neutral experts or arbitrators, we support our clients by actively including them in the valuation process. For complex engagements, we bring business, legal, and tax aspects together and involve other specialists from our multi-disciplinary team at Nexia. We offer our clients extensive international expertise for valuation engagements throughout our global network.

Our services, among others, focus on:

- Company Valuations
- Valuations of Specific Assets and Liabilities
- Purchase Price Allocation
- Impairment Testing

Management Consulting

New challenges arise daily, and it is important to be prepared by seeking optimal solutions. Strategic decisions are easier to make and lead to sustainable results when public auditors, certified tax advisors and lawyers and management consultants work together interdisciplinarily.

Nexia offers a variety of consulting services that have a highly professional reputation associated with them – domestically as well as internationally.
