Nexia Digital & Technology Services GmbH concludes a strategic premium partner agreement with LocateRisk GmbH

Düsseldorf, 27/05/2025 – Nexia Digital & Technology Services GmbH has signed a strategic premium partner agreement with LocateRisk GmbH. The aim of the cooperation is to enable companies to have an even better overview of their IT security situation. Based on strategic consulting and proven solutions, digital risks in the face of ever-growing cyber-attacks are not only managed more transparently and efficiently, but also cyber-resilience is strengthened.

The ever-increasing threat of cyber-attacks poses enormous challenges for companies. In particular, medium-sized companies are being confronted with growing demands for transparency, risk management and regulatory compliance, for which they very often cannot adequately provide the necessary resources or the required know-how. This is precisely the point where the strategic partnership between Nexia Digital & Technology Services and LocateRisk steps in: The combination of technical and analytic competence, proven IT expertise and in-depth industry knowledge acquired over many years delivers reliable solution scenarios, such as performing risk analyses and cyber-security maturity assessments, analysing vulnerable weak-points right up to implementing complete zero-trust and cyber-security architectures to decision-makers. Especially medium-sized companies are provided with sound basis and proven technologies at their disposal in order to improve the security of their companies sustainably.

The cooperation bundles the expertise of both partners: While Nexia Digital & Technology Services, as a trusted technology advisor for medium-sized companies, offers solutions in the areas of IT security, digitalization as well cloud and IT compliance, LocateRisk provides a leading platform for assessing IT security. With its solutions supported by technology, the LocateRisk IT experts enable companies to have automated, objective analyses of their company's cyber-security performance – without being invasive and without interfering with existing IT infrastructures.

Ingo Wolf, the Managing Director of Nexia Digital & Technology Services GmbH, views the strategic partnership as follows: "Our cooperation with LocateRisk strengthens our portfolio in the area of cyber-risk monitoring and adds value to our clients by performing objective and ongoing IT risk analyses. Our aspiration is to develop cybersecurity solutions that are well-suited to medium-sized companies, that meet their needs and that comply with the dynamic and ever-changing security requirements they face. With our partnership we are ideally positioned for this task.”

LocateRisk GmbH is also delighted about the cooperation: “We are very happy that with Nexia Digital & Technology Services GmbH, we have a strong partner at our side to support companies with excellent strategic consulting on their pathway to gaining more cyber-resilience. Our automated IT security analyses deliver an ideal supplement for having the necessary data base and transparency for making well-founded decisions and for taking swift action”, says Lukas Baumann, the founder and CEO of LocateRisk.
